AQUA-HOT NAMES PAUL A. HARTER PRESIDENT

A leader in RV hydronic heating for over 20 years, Aqua-Hot Heating Systems has appointed Paul A. Harter to president. Most recently general manager and VP, Harter will position the company to best take advantage of the recovery. He replaces late company founder Harold "Hap" Enander, who's life was tragically cut short last year.

"At the beginning of the recession, we were in a good situation and had little debt so we could invest in new product development," said Harter. "By targeting other classes of RVs, including trailers and fifth wheels and moving outside the industry, we'll increase our market share."

Joining Aqua-Hot in the summer of 2006, Harter helped reorganize the company, improving quality control and facilitating this diversification. A proven leader, he served as general manager at Android Industries and executive director for the International Society of Arboriculture.

"I have some pretty big shoes to fill at Aqua-Hot," said Harter. "Our founder had a vision for the company and I'm willing to step up to the challenge and make it a reality."

State-of-the-art Aqua-Hot Hydronic Heating Systems provide unlimited hot water and quiet, evenly-distributed interior heat.
