JMP CELEBRATES ANNIVERSARY WITH KEY DISTRIBUTOR

JMP Marine, manufacturer of superior quality sea water pumps, strainers and flexible impellers, is celebrating an anniversary with Hatton Marine Engine & Generator Systems. The Pacific Northwest distributor and authorized service center has been promoting and selling the JMP brand for nine years into the recreational and commercial marine markets.

Seattle-based Hatton Marine knows the importance of offering value-driven parts without compromising durability or reliability. "JMP is a high-quality OEM alternative for our retail and wholesale customers, at a much lower price," said Pete Shelton, Hatton Marine outside sales.

Since 1999, Hatton Marine has specialized in marine diesel engine, generator and stationary power system sales, installations, repower projects, service and parts. It's the exclusive distributor in the Pacific Northwest for GE, Mitsubishi and Scana, and an authorized dealer for Cummins, John Deere, Northern Lights, Scania, Yanmar and ZF, among others. Its website is www.hattonmarine.com.

"Hatton Marine has been with us since our introduction into the US market. They've grown to be one of our largest distributors and is consistently a top sales performer," said Chan "CJ" Jeon, JMP Corporation manager. "Through their hard work and impeccable reputation in the segments they serve, the JMP brand has quickly become well-known among consumers and marine professionals alike."
