PROSPEC LAUNCHES MULTI-SOURCE/MULTI-ZONE BLUETOOTH AMP

Offering unique practical audio equipment is nothing new for Prospec Electronics. It continues its innovation with the debut of the Millennia MIL-AMP200BT. This product acts as either a multi-zone or stand-alone amplifier and is small enough to fit almost anywhere. In addition, it also features Bluetooth® audio streaming and aux input.

The MIL-AMP200BT has four channels and measures only 5" L x 4" W x 1.6" H. It is ideal for consumers wanting to upgrade their current non-Bluetooth audio systems to Bluetooth.

This product results in an easy install for boats, golf carts, UTVs or spas currently without audio. The 4 x 20W RMS amplifier also incorporates a 3.5 mm auxiliary input so that, with the proper adaptor, users could plug in their portable media devices.

This product can act as a multi-zone amplifier best explained with a real-world scenario. For example, a stereo and four speakers are installed on the bridge and FM rock tunes are being pumped out. In the cabin, another four speakers are wired to the MILAMP200, which is connected to the stereo. Because the Millennia amp has its own Bluetooth and aux in sourcing, owners could connect their Bluetooth device and play jazz through the cabin speakers while not interfering with the FM rock music up on the bridge.
