PAC-WEST IS SEA-FIRE MARINE'S NEWEST REP GROUP

Sea-Fire Marine, manufacturer of fire detection and suppression systems, has signed Pac-West Marketing as its newest sales representative group. Ernie Ellis, Sea-Fire Marine president, made the announcement.

Pac-West will represent Sea-Fire Marine throughout the western US states and Canadian provinces. Selling primarily into the recreational marine markets, it has over 100 combined years of retail, wholesale and manufacturing experience. Its website is www.pac-west2010.webnode.com.

"We're pleased to have Pac-West Marketing represent our company throughout its territory," said Ellis. "They have longstanding relationships in their region and a thorough understanding of the technical aspect of our products."

Sea-Fire Marine manufactures state-of-the-art engineered and pre-engineered fire detection and suppression systems and components for recreational, commercial and naval vessels. Dedicated to protecting people and property at sea, it is also committed to the environment. It recently announced that it will cease distribution of hydrofluorocarbon-based suppression fluids in Europe. Instead, it will opt for 3M™ Novec™ 1230 that has a negligible global warming potential, yet is extremely safe for human exposure and incredibly effective.
